Turtle Soup Lyrics. Words and melody by Darragh Hoare

Nothing scares me like it used to
Now I'm in my shell
I'm only scared of whats to come my way
But losing you i've changed
Something in the orange says that I'll see you again
Roll up a heavenly one and wait for me, wait for me

Darkness it excites me
But i do welcome the sun at the break of day
You know, you know, it'll check my ego
White horses absorb you, carry me home again
Throw away your bitterness

It'll make you a man
Throw away your bitterness
Swallow your pride if you can
When you let go your burden

Your back will straighten on out
Old friends will re-acquaint you
And flowers will grow from your mouth

Throw away your bitterness

Darkness it excites me
But I do welcome the sun at the break of day
You know, you know, it'll check my ego
White horses absorb you carry me home again
